Downingtown Residence

John and Susan wanted to replace their small patio that was not very functional and beginning to fall apart.

The Bonner Landscape Contractors design process started with an initial consultation with one of our seasoned design staff. At this meeting, we shared our project portfolio, took a look at the existing patio and landscape, and surrounding conditions. We examined important elements such as clients' needs and wants, neighborhood, architecture of the home, sun exposure, drainage, as well as other aspects that are key to a great design.

After the meeting, our designer drafted a full color, conceptual plan for the patio area including a multi-level area and defined areas for outdoor kitchen elements. The plan laid out the kitchen area, dining area and lounge area, incorporating sitting walls and a fire feature constructed out of paver material.

Upon client agreement, the project began. The kitchen area was finished with a grill, refrigerator, cabinet, and side burner. A spacious area complete with sitting wall made a dining area to accommodate a table and chairs. A comfortable sitting area with a fire feature constructed out of paver material added a focal point and a little warmth, maximizing the patio season.

As a natural extension of the home's ground floor, the patio significantly expanded the family's living and entertaining space, providing an enticing gathering spot to enjoy.
